Lingaroo Stepherd Dog Adds to His Record as a Prize

Wash., Jan. 1-Tom Hopceran hunter, has just returned a the Blue Creek country, where he agged the largest puma ever seen in that section. He went up on the Blue Creek a little west of Chemelah in search of deer, and ran on traces of bear. A party started out in search of the bear and bagged two lynxes. Late in the evening the party was returning home, and Bill Rowley, with whom Hop-per was stopping, sent the rest of the party around the trail with a wagon.

Hopper and a companion decided to take a short cut through the mountains to the farm, and thought they might get a couple more lynxes. 'Not long after we started out Old Cap, my bear dog, started ahead of the rest and ran on for about 200 yards," said Hopper. "Then he stopped and began to raise a terrific row. The other dogs started after him, and we followed as fast as we could, as we thought they
